

This week we had civil engineers from Mott MacDonald visit Year 5 and 6. In teams they constructed a 13m long bridge across the hall, from the planning stage to completion.

The pupils learned about the important roles of engineers and developed their team - building and listening skills. After completion, the bridge was tested by the teams and then deconstructed.

NATIONAL THEATRE VISIT

The pupils who will be attending the Nethercote residential trip next were lucky to attend a talk by Michael Morpurgo at the National Theatre.

It is the 40th anniversary of War Horse and the pupils listened attentively as Mr Morpurgo talked about the book, it being made into a film and upcoming projects.

Nethercote House, where the pupils will be visiting next week, sits just outside the Devonshire village of Iddesleigh. Nestled deep in the countryside that inspired Mr Morpurgo to write War Horse.
